

Valentine's Vocabulary

Can you match the phrasal verbs and expressions with their meaning? How do you say these in Spanish?

- When you end a marriage
- When you have a lot in common with someone and you have a good time
- When your feelings about a person become very strong
- When you are seeing someone
- When you end a relationship
- When you have an argument
- When you invite someone for a romantic evening
- When you make an official commitment in a church or civil ceremony
- When you forgive each other after an argument
- When you finally forget your ex

Now put them into the correct gap and in the correct tense

John and Sarah worked together. They had always..... each other really well and eventually John decided to Sarah They started to each other and after a couple of years they moved in together.

On Valentine's day John decided to ask Sarah to marry him. They one year later on the same date.

John and Sarah were a passionate couple and they used to all the time, but they always again. However, one day they had an enormous argument. Sarah found John had been cheating on her.

She decided to It took Sarah a long time to John, but since then she has met someone new and they have started seeing each other.

Look at the other underlined phrasal verbs. What do you think they mean? Match them to their meanings

- | | |
|----------------------|--------------------------------|
| MOVE IN WITH SOMEONE | date someone but not seriously |
| CHEAT ON SOMEONE | go to live with someone |
| SEE SOMEONE | be unfaithful to someone |

VALENTINES VOCABULARY AND TRANSLATIONS

PHRASAL VERBS	OPPOSITE (where appropriate)	TRANSLATION IN THIS CONTEXT
To get married	To get divorced
To get over someone	To be hung up on someone
To ask someone out	To turn someone down
To get along with someone	To not get along with someone
To get divorced/seperated	To get married
To make up	To fall out
To fall in love	To drift apart
To break up	To get together
To fall out	To make up
To go out with someone	To dump someone
To move in with someone	To move out
To cheat on someone	To be faithful
To see someone	To not see someone

ANSWERS

John and Sarah worked together. They had always got on with each other really well and eventually John decided to ask Sarah out. They started to go out with each other and after a couple of years they moved in together.

On Valentine's day John decided to ask Sarah to marry him. They got married one year later on the same date.

John and Sarah were a passionate couple and they used to fall out all the time, but they always made up again. However, one day they had an enormous argument. Sarah found John had been cheating on her.

She decided to get divorced. It took Sarah a long time to get over John, but since then she has met someone new and they have started seeing each other.

MOVE IN WITH SOMEONE = go to live with someone

CHEAT ON SOMEONE = be unfaithful to someone

SEE SOMEONE = date someone but not seriously

ANSWERS

PHRASAL VERBS	OPPOSITE (where appropriate)	TRANLSATION IN THIS CONTEXT
To get married	To get divorced	Casarse
To get over someone	To be hung up on someone	Superar alguien/algo
To ask someone out	To turn someone down	Invitar a salir
To get along with someone	To not get along with someone	Llevarse bien
To get divorced/seperated	To get married	Divorciarse/separarse
To make up	To fall out	Hacer las paces
To fall in love	To drift apart	enamorarse
To break up	To get together	Romper la relación
To fall out	To make up	enfadarse
To go out with someone	To dump someone	Salir con alguien
To move in with someone	To move out	Ir a vivir con tu pareja
To cheat on someone	To be faithful	Poner le a alguien los cuernos
To see someone	To not see someone	Salir con alguien, pero de manera mas informal